- I fully/partially (dis)agree...
- I'm strongly convinced that...
- No doubt...
- As for me, I believe...
- To my mind...

- Travelling is the opportunity to broaden our mind, to discover new ways of life, to meet interesting people, to improve knowledge of history and geography.
- Only a backpack traveller can experience immersion into other culture and way of life.

- Tourists should be responsible travellers and maintain ecotourism.
- We benefit from travelling by plane.

- Inner tourism in Russia is developing much better now.

A photograph of a brick archway in the foreground, looking out over a green landscape with a river and a blue sky with clouds. The archway is made of red brick with white mortar. The landscape is a mix of green grass and a river. The sky is blue with some white clouds.

Mother Russia: to go or not to go?

A photograph of an open book with a starry night sky on the pages. The book is open, and the pages are filled with a vibrant, multi-colored starry night sky, featuring the Milky Way galaxy. The colors range from deep blues and purples to bright whites and oranges. The book is set against a dark background, and the pages are slightly curved, giving a sense of depth. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.
