Burns Night

Burns Night

A Poetic Celebration of Scotland Jan. 25th

Robert Burns

(1759-1796)

Scottish poet, famous overworld.

He wrote his poems,
songs and lyrics
chiefly in the Scottish dialect.

BURNS

His Life

Robert Burns was born on January 25, 1759, in a small clay cottage at Alloway in Ayrshire, Scotland.

His father was a poor farmer.

Burns started writing poems at the age of seventeen.

Though Burns's poems were popular, he always remained poor.

The Selkirk Grace

The words below are traditionally said to toast a Scottish
dinner or meal,
especially at a social gathering.

Some have meat
and cannot eat,
Some can eat
that want it:
But we have meat
and we can eat,
Sae let the Lord be thankit.

У которых есть, что есть, — те
подчас не могут есть, А другие могут есть, да сидят без
хлеба.

А у нас тут есть, что есть, да при
этом есть, чем есть, — Значит, нам благодарить остается небо!

Although attributed to Burns, the Selkirk Grace in fact was already known in the 17th century, as the "Galloway Grace" or the "Covenanters' Grace". It came to be called the Selkirk Grace because Burns was said to have delivered it a dinner given by the Earl of Selkirk.
