Wright Brothers

"We were lucky enough to grow up in an environment where there was always much encouragement to children to pursue intellectual interests."

—Orville Wright

The Wright's Flyer had a "tail first" arrangement. Wings were the plane to turn, but the brothers found that a hawk could use the plane to spiral into the ground. They added movable rudders to keep the two under control.

17 December 1903 at Kitty Hawk: Flyer No. 1 rises into the air for the first time. Three flights were made that day. The longest, piloted by Wilbur, was 852 feet and took 59 seconds.
