WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE (26.04.1564 - 23.04.1616)

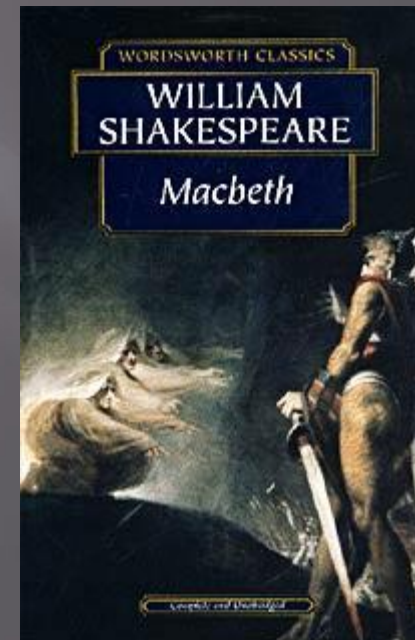

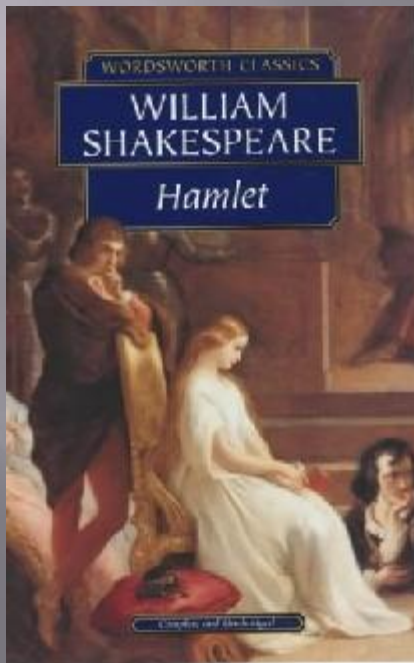

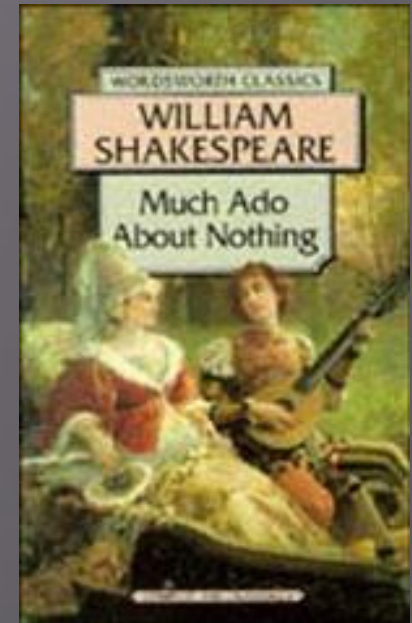

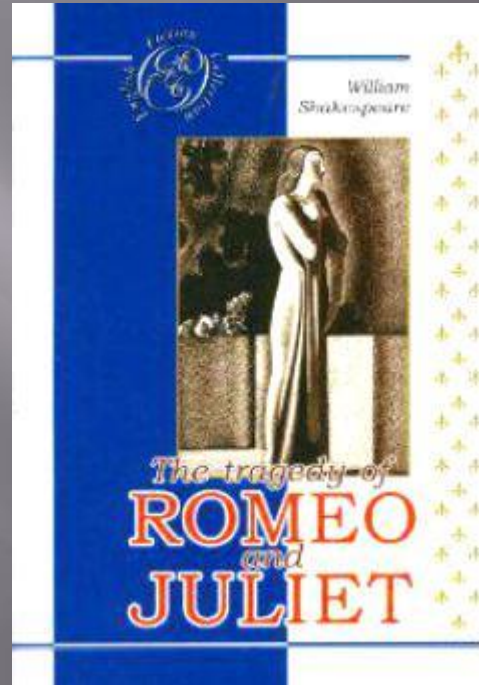

Was born in Stratford-upon-Avon. Young William was born of John Shakespeare, a glover and leather merchant, and Mary Arden, a landed local heiress. William, according to the church register, was the third of eight children in the Shakespeare household – three of whom died in childhood. Shakespeare attended the free grammar school in Stratford, which at the time had a reputation to rival that of Eton. Shakespeare married Anne Hathaway on November 28, 1582. William was 18, and Anne was 26 – and pregnant. Their first daughter, Susanna, was born on May 26, 1583. The couple later had twins, Hamnet and Judith, born February 2, 1585. Hamnet died

DIANA FRANCES SPENCER

1.07.1961 - 31.08.1997

Diana's parents were from aristocratic families: her father's name is Viscount Althorp and her mother's name is Frances Roche. The ancestors of her father Earl Spencer were relatives of a royal dynasty. The mother had a noble title too. Diana was sent to the private school. For the first time Diana met the Prince in 1977, in the estate of Diana's father. Diana's sister Sarah introduced them to each other. They began to date. At this time it was considered in Buckingham Palace that the heir should marry. They were married at St. Paul's Cathedral on July 29, 1981 and this wedding became rather most brilliant event in Britain. Diana was twenty, Charles – thirty-two. In June, 1982 the Princess of Wales gave birth to her first son, Prince William, and in September, 1984 she gave birth to her second child Prince Henry. In December, 1992 the Prime Minister John Major announced to the Parliament, that Diana and Charles were going to divorce. The official divorce was held in August, 1996. On August 31, 1997 Princess Diana was killed in a car accident. Diana's death was a great tragedy and loss for the whole British nation. Her death is still full of mysteries
