

Usually we see films either in the cinema or on the TV.

My favourite film is "War and Peace"

The script of the film was written by Sergey Bondar-chuk and W. Solowjew.

The Leningrad (now Sankt Petersburg) ballet-dancer Ludmila Saweljewa played the main part.

She other parts were played by A. Ktorov (old Bolkonsky), O. Tabakov (Nikolai), I. Skobzeva (Helena)

Borodino struggle, hunting, the first ball of Natasha made a great impression on me

My favourite film is "The Fate of a Man"

it. It has enormous vigour and delicacy, it is full of purity and hope

All the great events and the feelings aroused are depicted with taste, tact and restraint.

To wish to draw attention particularly to the extraordinary performance of the boy.

Even if the film has no other merits, the child scenes, so subtle, profound and lifelike, so full of tragic vigour — these scenes alone would win Bondarchuk the reputation of a great director.
