Education

A close-up, low-angle shot of a golden telescope mounted on a tripod against a warm, orange background. The telescope is the central focus, extending from the left side of the frame towards the right. The lighting is soft and directional, highlighting the metallic texture of the telescope's barrel and the intricate details of its mounting mechanism. The background is a solid, warm orange color, creating a sense of depth and focus on the instrument.

“You cannot teach a man
anything; you can only help him find it within himself.”

Galileo Galilei

Education in Our Life

- A red apple with a green leaf is perched on top of a stack of several books. The books have various colored covers, including brown, blue, and green. The background is a light green chalkboard.
- One of the most valuable possessions a man can get in his life.
  - Human progress mostly depended upon well-educated people.
  - Self-education is very important.
  - Refresh our knowledge.
  - We get our knowledge of this world and life through education.
  - Famous discoveries would have been impossible.
  - Education develops different sides of human personality.

So education brings people closer to each other, helps them to understand each other better.

FUTURE

So education brings people closer to each other, helps them
to understand
each other better.

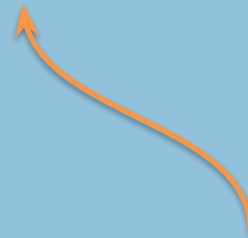

A young woman with curly hair, wearing a blue blazer, is shown from the chest up. She is resting her chin on her hands, looking directly at the camera with a neutral expression. The background is plain white.

“An education isn't how much you have committed to memory, or even how much you know. It's being able to differentiate between what you know and what you don't.”

Anatole France

Association

You should break up into two groups. You will have only one minutes to write associations. Your topic is education.
