

“Literary Britain”

Aim:

Introducing the most famous British writers and their birthplaces

By the end of the lesson you will be able

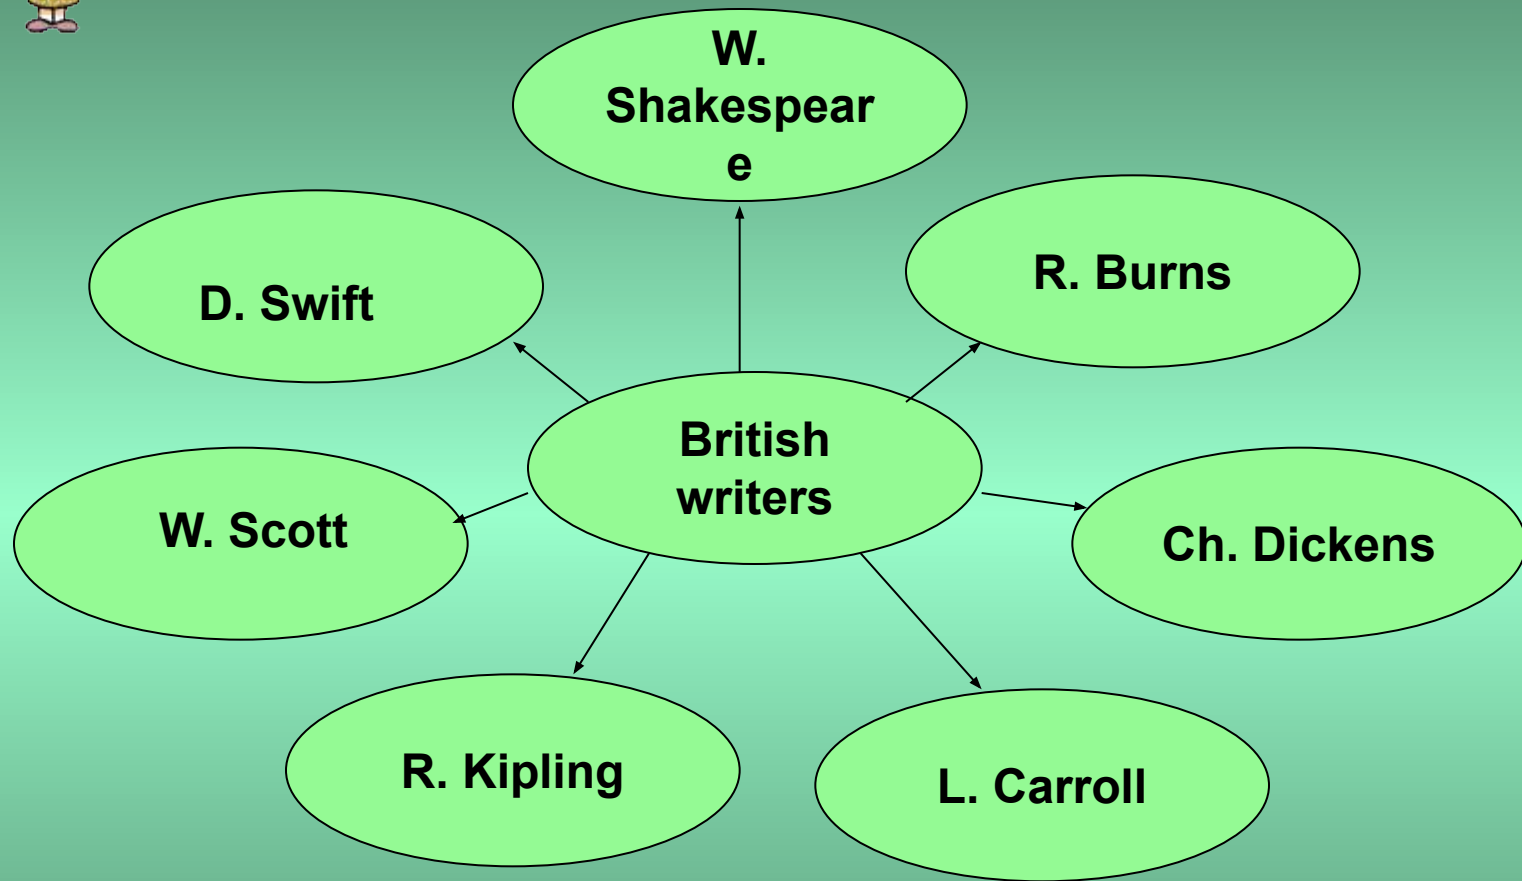

- to listen to the text and find out the specific information about famous British writers.
- to use new words and word combinations to describe the places, where the writers were born.

New vocabulary:

to be associated with, to be well known, to inspire, to produce

What famous British writers do you know?

Aberdeen

Edinburgh

Alloway

Nottingham

Cambridge

Stratford-upon-Avon

Cardiff

Bath

Oxford

London

R.D. BLACKMORE

HENRY WADSWORTH

CHARLES KINGSLEY

EVELYN WAUGH

WILLIAM CROCKETT

ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

CHARLES DICKENS

MARK TWAIN

ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING

CHARLES POTT

1. Stratford-upon-Avon
2. London
3. Wales
4. Bath
5. Walsall
6. Oxford
7. Alloway
8. Cambridge

- Stratford -on -Avon is associated with the name of W. Shakespeare.

- Do you know why Stratford - on - Avon is well known?

- Stratford -on -Avon is well known because it is W. Shakespeare's birthplace.

Learn Some More Information

The Bronte

The short, tragic and unhappy lives of Charlotte Bronte and her literary siblings, Emily and Anne produced some of the best-loved and popular classics ever written.

Robert Burns

Scotland's most celebrated bard Robert Burns is renowned the world over. Author of famous poems such as Auld Lang Syne and Tam O' Shanter, Burns was born in Alloway.

Lewis Carroll

One day in the summer of 1862, Lewis Carroll took Alice Liddell, the ten-year old daughter of the dean of Christ Church College, Oxford and her two sisters on a boating picnic.

William Shakespeare

The world's most performed playwright enriched British culture with new words and dazzling imagery as no author before or since. From knockabout comedy to searing tragedy.

Conclusion and comments:

Self Evaluation

1. I ... listen to the text and find out the specific information about famous British writers.

2. I ... use new words and word combinations to describe the places, where the writers were born.

can't ...

can ..., but not very well

can ... very well

Hometask:

Find the information in the Internet and begin preparing presentations about one of famous British writers.

