Children wear a school uniform. School uniform is a kind of clothes. It's different in many countries. In Japan it consists of a black skirt, white shirt and a red tie (for girls). Few schools in the United States have formal school uniforms, but most have dress codes.

Most British pupils wear uniforms. Boys wear a white shirt, long grey or black trousers, sweater with the school logo on tie, black shoes. The colour is different. Girls wear trousers or skirts as part of their uniform –often black, grey or brown. In summer girls often wear summer school dresses.

A school uniform came to Russia from England.

The first uniforms were for boys and some years later for girls. Boys had special shirts, trousers, black boots and a cap. Girls wore dresses and aprons.

Now each school has the right to choose the school uniform. There is also a modern tradition for girls to dress into brown soviet-style school uniform for their
