

Present Simple Tense. Yes / No Questions and Answers

Children ask a lot of questions.

Do children ask a lot of questions? → Yes, they do.
 No, they don't.

The boy asks a lot of questions.

Does the boy ask a lot of questions?

Yes, he does.

No, he doesn't.

What questions do you know the answers to?

I know the answers to these questions:

Does a turtle swim?

Does a giraffe run fast?

Do pigs eat tomatoes?

Does a chimpanzee speak English?

Does a dolphin speak?

Do leopards eat fish?

Does a mouse build a house?

Does a crocodile like other animals?

Does an anaconda live in Britain?

Do bears ride a bike?

Do ravens live in cities?

What are the questions?

Yes, I do. I like watching TV in the evening.

Yes, I do. I like chocolate ice cream.

No, I don't. I can't ride a bike.

Yes, she does. She plays the guitar.

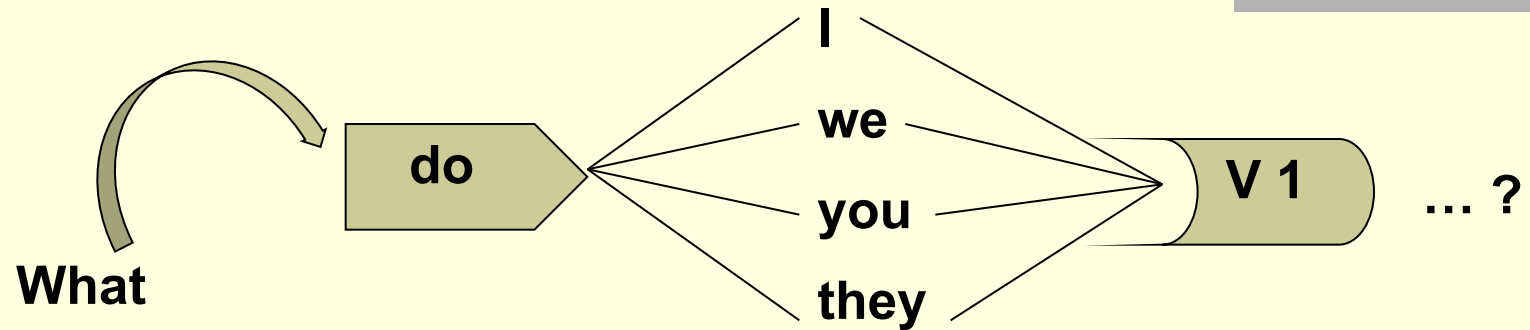

Yes, we do. We often go on picnics.

Yes, I do. I usually listen to music with my friends.

Yes, I do. I sometimes read French books.

Present Simple Tense. Special Questions.

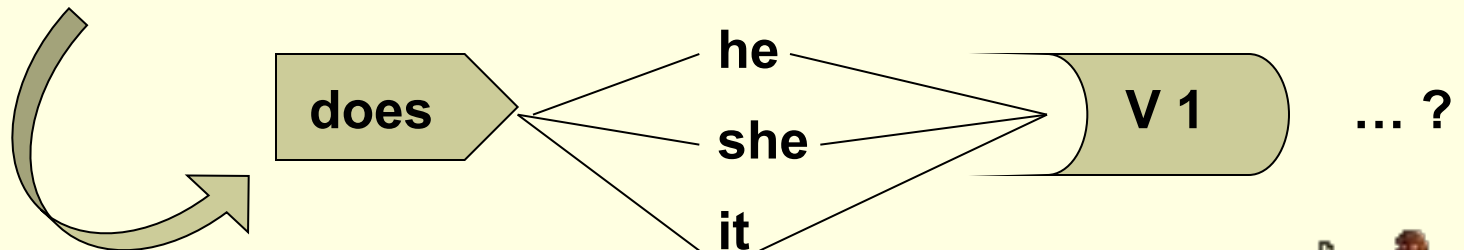

What

Where

When

How

Where do you play golf?

When does he usually play tennis?

Haley Joel Osment is one of the most successful actors in the USA.

Read the interview.

-Haley, you are one of the youngest actors in the USA. Where do you live?

- I live in California.

-Where does your mother work?

- She is a teacher. She work at school.

- And what does your father do?

- He is an actor.

-Have you got any pets?

- Yes, I have. I have a dog and frogs.

-When do you usually make films.

-I try to do it during school holidays.

- What do you like doing when you have spare time?

- I like reading. I also like playing basketball and golf.

- How old are you?

- I'm thirteen.