

Moscow and St Petersburg are the most important cities of Russia.

They stand on the banks of two rivers- the Moskva and the Neva.

The two cities have a lot of places of interest theatres, museums and picture galleries

In their streets and squares there are a lot of beautiful buildings

They have some wonderful green parks

But what makes them different?

St Petersburg is younger than Moscow: Tzar Peter the Great founded it in 1703

Prince Dolgoruky lived in Moscow as early as in 1147 in the 12 th century.

In St Petersburg there are lot of bridges but there is no Kremlin

More people live in Moscow than in St Petersburg. And its streets are more busier

The territory of Moscow is larger

St Petersburg is a large sea port because it is situated near the Baltic Sea

Moscow has only rivers ports.

The climate in St Petersburg is different from the climate in Moscow: the city has got more nasty and rainy days.

The are some symbols of Moscow: the Tsar Bell in the Kremlin, Spasskaya Tower and St Basil`s Cathedral

St Petersburg has some symbols too – the monument to Peter the Great on a horse and Smolny Cathedral
