Reading

3 Read and listen to the text and say what the underlined words refer to. Then explain the words in bold.

British Teenage Magazines

About half of British young people aged 12 to 16 read teenage magazines! Two of the most popular magazines for girls are 'Sugar' and 'Bliss'. They have glossy, colourful covers and include beauty and fashion, celebrity gossip, real life stories, horoscopes, quizzes and problem pages. Of course, boys don't usually find these magazines very interesting! Instead, they buy music magazines like 'NME' or magazines about sport, like 'Shoot' or 'Match'.

Usually, teenage magazines contain a lot of language that only teenagers use! They might use 'celeb' instead of celebrity, for example, or 'fave' instead of favourite. They also say 'lads' instead of 'boys', 'dosh' instead of 'money' and 'natter' instead of 'talk to your friends'. This makes the magazines more attractive to teenagers.

On a more serious note though, a lot of these magazines can help teens find solutions to problems they don't feel comfortable discussing with their parents. That's why the problem pages in these magazines are very popular. In fact, many teens buy them just for the problem page. How about you? What do you like most in magazines?

Speaking

4 In groups, discuss your favourite teenage magazine. Compare it to those in the text.

Project

5 Portfolio: In small groups, do a survey on favourite teenage magazines for boys & girls in your class. Report the results.

Beautiful Buildings

There are many famous places to visit all around Russia but one place in particular is known by name all the world.

Spotlight on Russia takes you into the world-famous Moscow Kremlin.

The Moscow Kremlin

The word kremlin means fortress in Russian. The famous and well-known is the Moscow Kremlin. It is a walled area in the heart of Moscow. The Kremlin is built on the Moskva River on one side and Red Square on the other. Inside, there are beautiful palaces, churches and cathedrals as well as various other attractive state buildings, trees, squares and peaceful gardens. The wall around the Moscow Kremlin is 2,235 metres long and five to nineteen metres high. There are twenty towers that look out over the city in all directions. Spasskaya Tower is 71 m tall and is the main tower that looks out over Red Square.

The Moscow Kremlin and Red Square were designated a UNESCO World Heritage site in 1990. This is not surprising when you discover how many incredibly beautiful churches and palaces there are. For example, in Cathedral Square there are three magnificent cathedrals from the late 15th and 16th centuries. The Cathedral of the Assumption is the oldest. It is made of white stone and has five golden domes. Orthodox patriarchs are buried there. Across the square is the Cathedral of the Annunciation, which also has golden domes. Inside there are some early 15th-century icons of St Theophanes and Andrei Rublyov. Then, there is the Cathedral of St Michael the Archangel where the princes of Moscow and the tsars of Russia are buried. Next to the square is the bell tower of Ivan III and at the bottom is the huge Tsar Cannon which was made in 1733-35 but has never been rung. Close by is the Tsar Cannon which dates from 1586 and is next to the mid-17th-century Cathedral of the Twelve Apostles and the Patriarchal Palace.
