

Historical figures Leaders

Презентация по английскому языку

Starlight-6, Module 3b

Учитель Малина О.В.

Heroes of the Ancient World

These people led their countries, fought against great armies, explored new lands and did amazing things. People didn't always like them, but they won a place in history forever.

Alexander the Great,

356 – 323 BC

was a Macedonian king. He conquered most of the known world. He died when he was 32.

Manco Cápac, 12th century was a South American leader. According to the legend, he was the man who started the Inca Empire.

Tutankhamum,

1341-1323 BC

was an Egyptian king. He spent his time as king building monuments and temples. Today his burial mask is the iconic image of ancient Egypt.

Genghis Khan,

Ca. 1162-1227

was a Mongol leader and warlord. He started the Mongol Empire by joining together lots of tribes in northeast Asia. People think of him as the founder of Mongolia.

Marco Polo,

Ca. 1254-1324

was an Italian explore. He travelled the 7,000-km-long Silk Road from Europe to China. He set out in 1271 and returned home 24 years later. His journey helped to create new maps.

Cleopatra,

69-30 BC

was an Egyptian queen and the last of the Pharaohs to rule Egypt. According to many poets and historians, Cleopatra died after a poisonous snake bit her.

Julius Caesar,

100-44 BC

was a Roman ruler. He started and won a civil war and reformed Roman society and government. A group of senators murdered him because they wanted to change things back. He said "I came, I saw, I conquered" after winning a battle in Asia Minor.

Quiz

1. How old was Alexander the Great when he died?
2. Which empire did Genghis Khan start?
3. Who said “I came, I saw, I conquered”?
4. Who was the last of the Pharaohs to rule Egypt?
5. Who was out of home about 24 years?
6. Which empire did Manco Cápas start?
7. What is the iconic image of ancient Egypt nowadays?