The Olympic Games in Sochi

In September 2010th the Organizing Committee opened the Russian national competition to design a mascot. Everybody could send the own mascot. People from all over the country took part in the mascot ideas competition.

The polar bear. He lives beyond the Arctic Circle. In his home, everything is made out of ice and snow: his bed, his computer. The polar bear was brought up by Arctic explorer from a very early age. He became a real bobsleigh professional, while his fellow bears love watching his sporting achievements. These day they often set up bobsleigh competitions together.

The Leopard is a mountain-climber. He lives in the predominant branches of a huge tree, on the highest peak of the snowy mountains in the Caucasus. He is always prepared to help those in need.

The Leopard has taught all his friends to snowboard. He is a cheerful character who loves to go dancing.

The Hare is the busiest creature in the winter forest. Her friends are always amazed: just how does she find the time to do so much!

She takes part in all sporting events. She loves sport with all her heart. And the hare loves to sing and dance.

Ray Of Light flew down to Earth from a planet where it was always hot. Ray Of Light was always ready to help the people around him. His journey was full of challenges. After he landed he faced a new and unknown planet where everything was different compared to his home.

Everything on the Earth was new to him: cold winters, snow and winds, and of course unknown people around him. He had amber skin, sparks in his wide eyes and hair that looked like flames.

Snowflake flew down to Earth from an icy planet. She had snow-white skin like first snow, and looked like a snow crystal. In some ways they seemed very different but in others, Snowflake and Ray Of Light had a lot in common. Together they demonstrate that anything is possible.
