There is the US flag on top of the house.

- The house was first called “The White House” in 1901, because its walls outside were painted white.

The White House kitchen can cook dinner for 140 guests.

Nowadays there is a small garden behind the White House, where the President's wife grows vegetables for the kitchen.

The most important room in the house is the President's Oval Office, where the President works.

And the most beautiful is the Red Room, where the President meets guests.

When the weather is fine, the President meets TV and newspaper reporters outside the house.

The White House is a very unusual house, because it is a family house, a place, where the President works and also a place visited by tourists. 6,000 tourists visit the house every day.
