Easter in Britain.

Easter is the most important festival in the Christian church year. The Romans killed Jesus Christ in Jerusalem about two thousand years ago. Christians believe in the Resurrection of Jesus Christ on the third day after his Crucifixion.

Why is Easter on a different day each year? This is because Easter Sunday is the Sunday after the first full moon after the first day of spring (21 March). Easter eggs, Easter Bunny and sending Easter cards are traditions in Britain. Sending Easter cards goes back to the 19th century.

A traditional favourite at Easter in England, Hot Cross Buns are a spicy currant or raisin studded yeast bun, topped with a Cross. Christians have adopted the cake and the symbolism of the cross, it wasn't always so. To Pagans then as now, the cross was symbolic of the sun wheel, which symbolizes perfect balance at the time of the Spring Equinox.

For Christians Easter Sunday is the high point of the year. They celebrate the Resurrection of Jesus Christ. Easter eggs are important in Britain, too. They are a symbol of rebirth. Children believe that the Easter Rabbit hides the eggs in the garden. Even King Edward I of England made the practice of coloured eggs more famous. He ordered 450 eggs to be coloured for Easter gifts in 1290.

A traditional food is Roast lamb for dinner on Easter Day.
