Passive Voice

- The Passive is formed by using the appropriate tense of the verb to be + past participle.
- Present Perfect Continuous, Future Continuous, Past Perfect Continuous are not normally used in the passive.

The Passive is used:

- When the agent (the person who does the action) is unknown, unimportant or obvious from the context;
- When we are interested more in the action than the agent, such as in news reports, formal notices, instructions, processes, headlines, advertisements etc.
- To make statements more formal or polite.
- To put emphasis on the agent.

Present Simple

- Active Voice:

They serve dinner at 6.00.

- Passive Voice:

Dinner is served at 6.00.

Changing from Active into Passive

	Subject	Verb	Object	Agent
Active	A boy	fed	the cat
Passive	The cat	was fed		by a boy

The object of the active becomes the subject in the new sentence. The active verb changes into a passive form and the subject of the active verb becomes the agent which is either introduced with “by” or is omitted. The Passive can be used only with transitive verbs (verbs which take an object such as give, write, take etc). Verbs such as happen, sleep, come, go, seem etc. are not used in the Passive.

- In the Passive we use by + agent to say who or what did the action.
- We use with + instrument or material to say what the agent used.
- The computer was broken by the clerk with a hammer.

- With verbs that take two objects, it is more usual to begin the Passive sentence with the person.

- Active Voice:

They gave Jane some money.

- Passive Voice:

Jane was given some money.

(more usual than: Money was given to Jane)

- We put the agent (= person who performs the action) in the Passive only if it adds information.
- When the agent is unknown, unimportant or obvious from the context, it is omitted.
- Agents such as someone, people, I, you etc are omitted.

1. The money was saved by my sister

(The agent is not omitted; it adds information)

2. Somebody cooked the soup. -> The soup was cooked

(unknown agent; by + agent are omitted)

- Make, hear, help, see are followed by a to-infinitive in the Passive.

She helped him plant a tree. ->

He was helped to plant a tree.

- Hear, see, watch can be followed by a present participle in the active and passive.

I heard him practicing the violin. ->

He was heard practicing the violin.

■ Believe, expect, feel, hope, know, report, say, think etc are used in the following passive patterns in personal and impersonal constructions.

People believe  he is a hero.

a) Subject (person) + passive + to-infinitive (personal construction)

He is believed to be a hero.

b) It + passive + that-clause (impersonal construction)

It is believed that he is a hero.

- We use be + past participle or have been + past participle after modal verbs (will, can, may etc).

I can't solve the task. ->
The task can't be solved.

They may have built the house. ->
The house may have been built.

- Verbs followed by a preposition (accuse somebody of, look after etc) take the preposition immediately after them when turned into passive.

They accused him of the murder.

->

He was accused of the murder.

- In passive questions with who/whom/which we do not omit by.

Who signed the letter? ->

Who was the letter signed by?

Who gave you these books? ->

Who were you given these books by?

- Participles like amazed, broken, interested, pleased, worried etc can be used either as adjectives or participles in the passive.
- If these participles are used as adjectives, they cannot be turned into the active.

Compare:

The first time I saw her I was amazed.

(“amazed” is used as an adjective)

I was amazed by her appearance.

(“amazed” is used as a past participle - Your appearance amazed me)
