Fact file: Schools in England

| Education | Age |
|---------------------------------------|-------|
| Primary school | 5–11 |
| Secondary school | 11–16 |
| Sixth form college | 16–18 |
| Higher education (university, etc) | 18+ |

Children at secondary schools in England usually study between eight and ten subjects. Everybody studies Maths, English, PE and a foreign language like French, German or Spanish. Other subjects are ICT, Geography, Music, History and the sciences (Biology, Chemistry and Physics). Students take official state exams called GCSEs (General Certificate of Secondary Education) at the age of 16.

Discussion

In pairs, compare schools in England with schools in Russia.

 In England children start school at five, but in Russia we start school at seven.
