The Royal Flying Doctor Service of Australia (RFDS), informally known as The Flying Doctor) is one of the largest and most comprehensive aeromedical organisations in the world. It provides emergency and primary health care services for those living in rural, remote and regional areas of Australia

Flying Doctors treat patients on remote sheep farms, operating with basic equipment.

Living in The Outback means almost complete isolation for thousands of Australians. It's unusual to find homes or small villages within 60 miles of each other, let alone the hospital.

ROYAL FLYING DOCTOR SERVICE

OF AUSTRALIA

The RFDSA, which is a non-profit charity, was set up in 1928. Since then, it has been helping those who live in remote areas of Australia. Today it offers primary health care from an aeroplane, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year as well as educational assistance. If the doctors are unable to treat a patient, they will fly them to the nearest hospital to be treated there.
