

МБОУ «Жердевская СОШ»

A Native American person is shown in profile, facing right, against a bright blue sky with scattered white clouds. They are wearing a traditional tan and white fringed garment. On their head, they wear a black cap with a large, upright feather and two long, dark feathers extending to the sides. They are holding a long, light-colored wooden staff across their shoulders with their right hand. The staff has some decorative elements and a string of beads hanging from it.

Жердевка 2019

Every year the colours and musical rhythms of Native American culture come alive at pow-wows all over America.

The Albuquerque Pow-Wow in New Mexico is Noth America's biggest and most spectacular celebration of the Indian way of life.

Indian leaders are strong and proud people.

More than 3,000 dancers represent over 500 different Indian tribes from the USA and Canada at the pow-wow.

The event always begins with the Grand Entry of Dancers.

The dancers enter the arena group by group from all four entrances.

Soon the arena explodes with colour, sound and movement.

At the end of the event there are prizes for the best dancers.

Indian women's dancing

Indian musical instruments

Children make fun!

They are very happy!

Elder people take part in the competitions too.
