

The lost civilization of Lemuria.

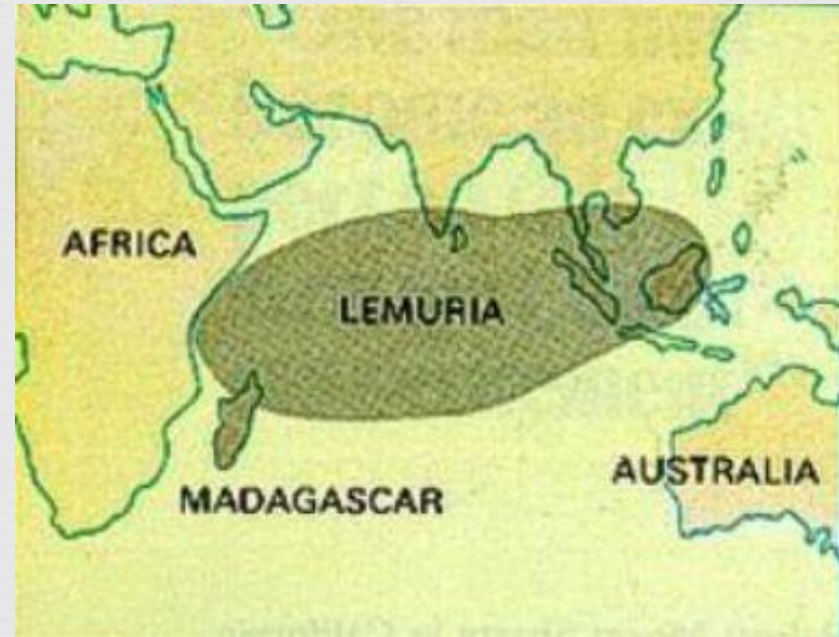

*Alina Zaitseva
From 10C
Lyceum №4*

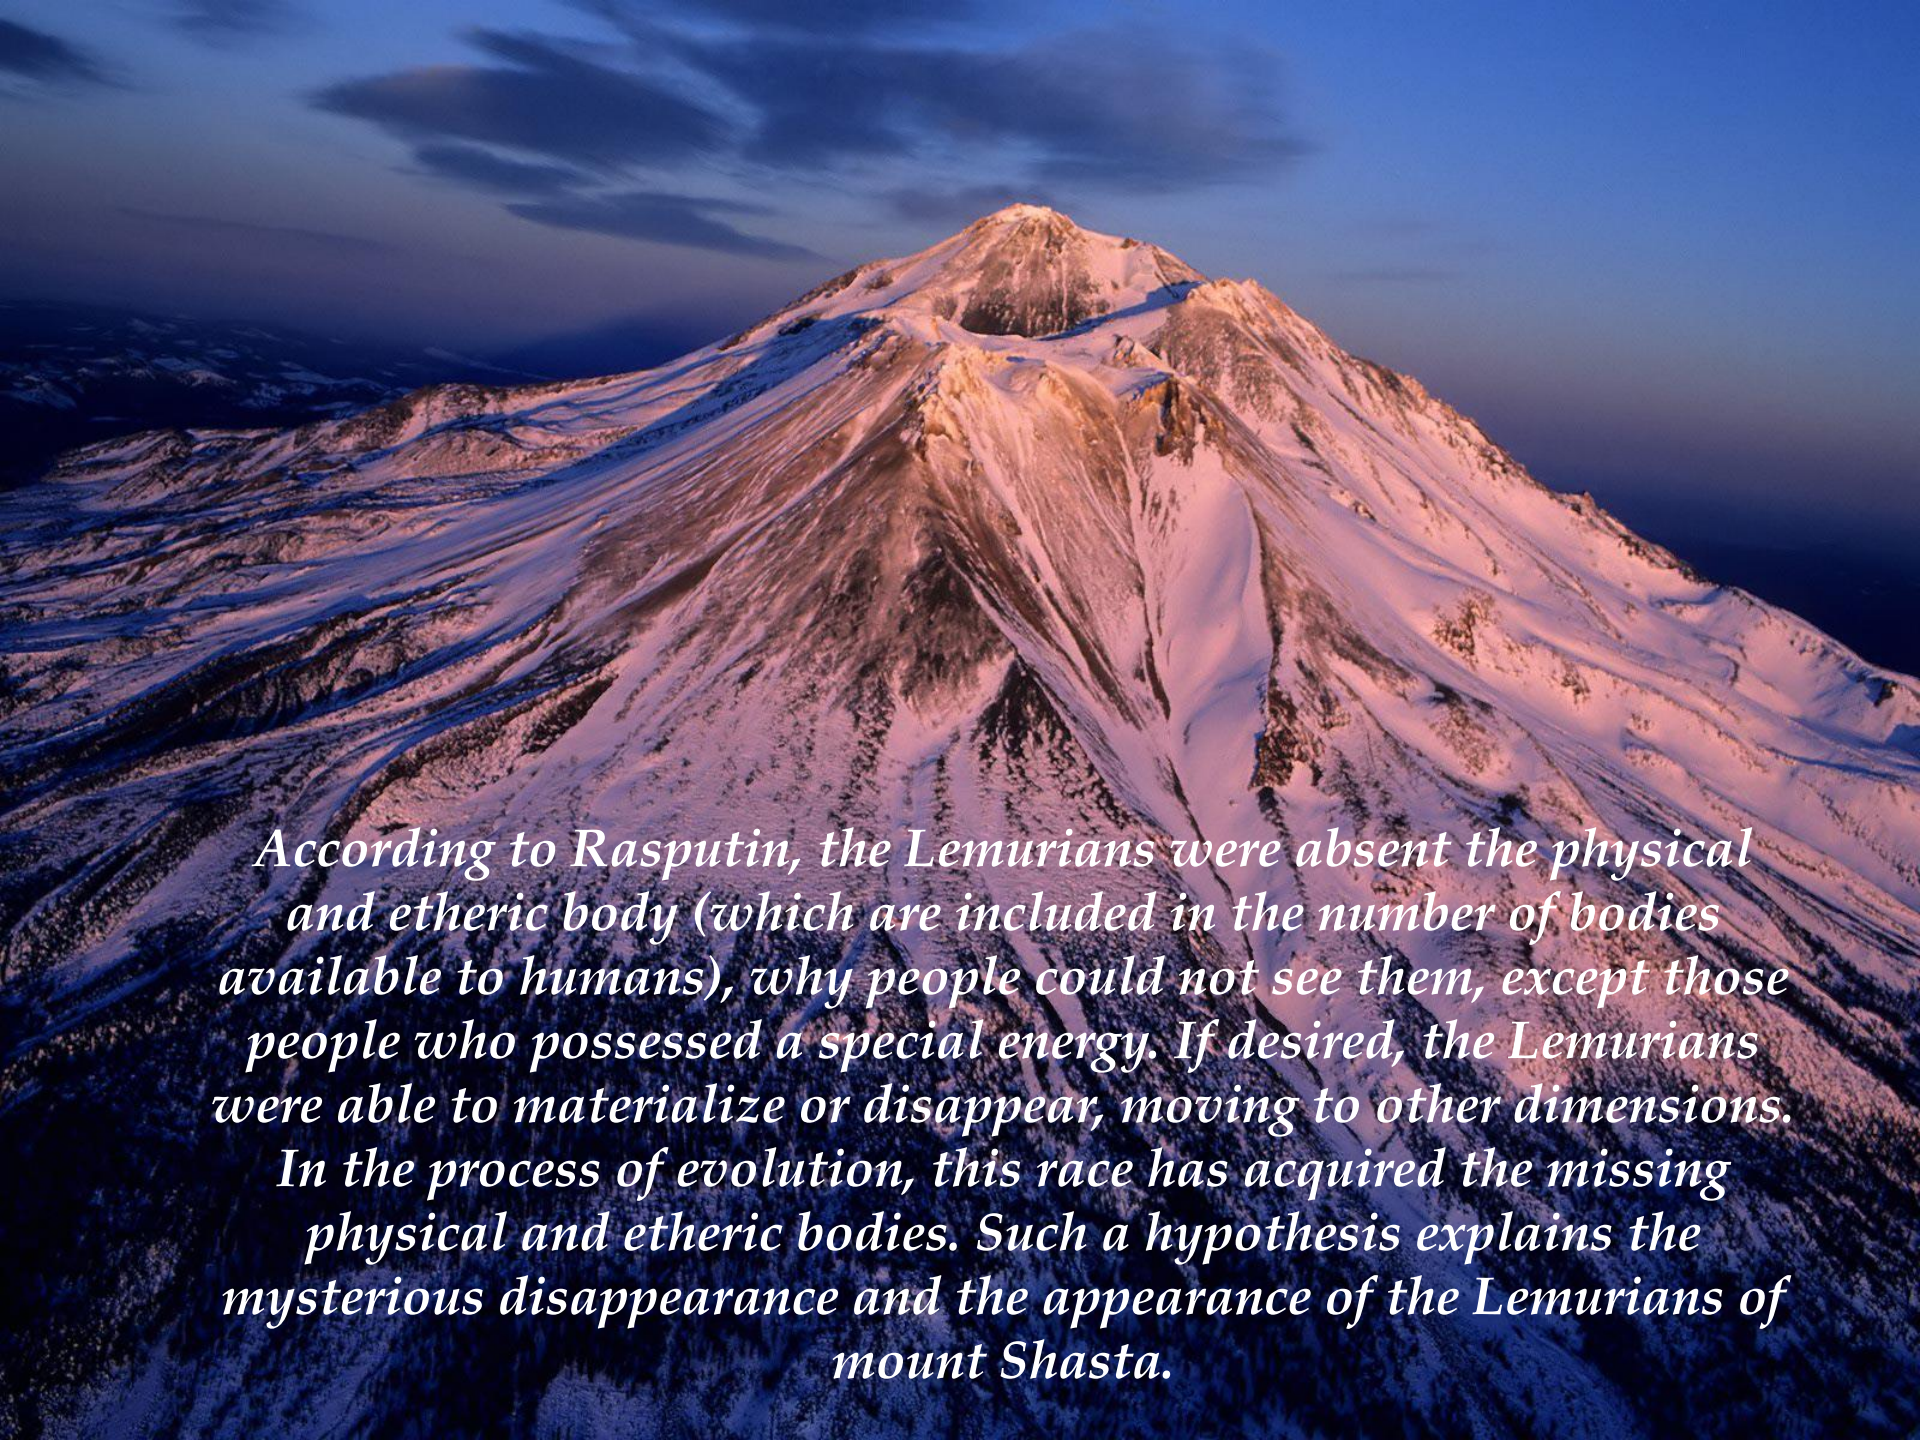

A civilization called Lemuria, which was located on the whole continent and disappeared from the face of the Earth, presumably as a result of natural disasters. Another name for this civilization

My

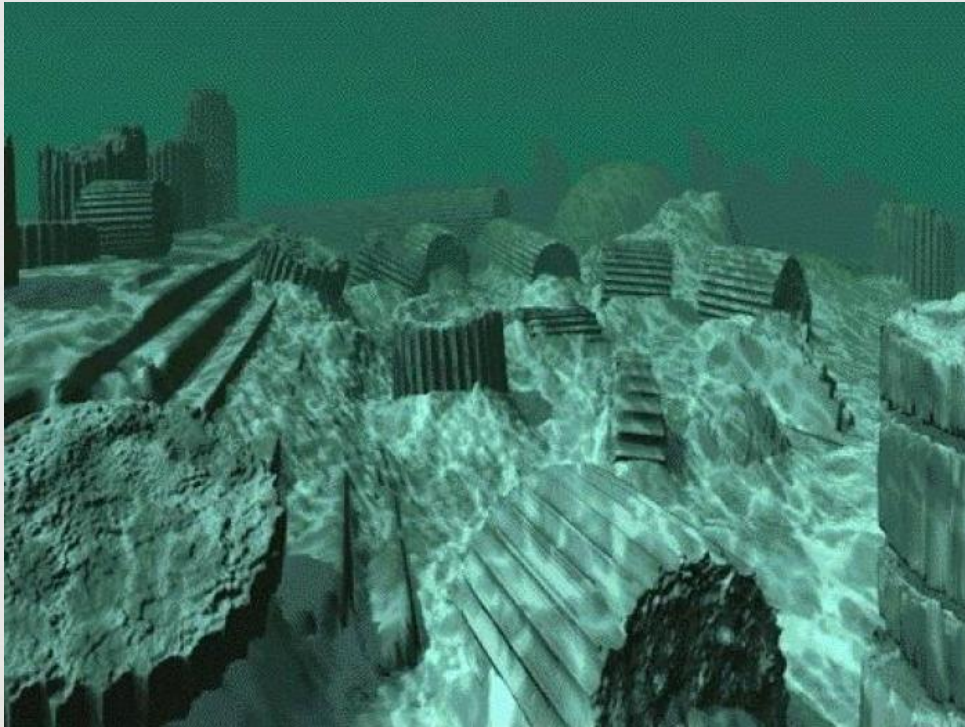

The height of the interest in the legendary civilization came in the XIX century, when scientists noticed the similarity of the flora and fauna of the South-Eastern regions of Asia and South-Eastern Africa (including Madagascar). In particular, the name of a hypothetical civilization Dali lemur – representatives of the order primates.

According to Rasputin, the Lemurians were absent the physical and etheric body (which are included in the number of bodies available to humans), why people could not see them, except those people who possessed a special energy. If desired, the Lemurians were able to materialize or disappear, moving to other dimensions. In the process of evolution, this race has acquired the missing physical and etheric bodies. Such a hypothesis explains the mysterious disappearance and the appearance of the Lemurians of mount Shasta.

Twelve thousand years ago, a terrible natural disaster destroyed the continent of Mu. Lemuria sank into the depths of the water, taking with him to the sea floor millions of lives.

Remains of giant people have been found in Australia, where anthropologists found the fossilized molar tooth height 67 and width 42 mm. The owner of the tooth had to have a growth of about 7.5 meters and a weight of 370 kilograms. Hydrocarbon analysis determined the age of the finds - 9 million years.

The ancient continent of Lemuria still waiting for their discoverers. The truth is not far off, and the first one to get to her, she will be amazed by the diversity and grandeur of an ancient civilization, which was the progenitor of all reasonable and progressive that is on our planet.

Thank you for your attention!