

The Research Work

English Words in Everyday Language of the Youth

- Today in Russian speech we hear many English words.
 - English words take up a strong place in youth speech. Some of these words came into our speech and we don't notice that they are English, we use English words free.

- We can hear English words practically every day in the magazines and newspapers, on TV, in chats, in messages and in everyday speech of the young people. That's why the theme of English words in Russian language is actually for me.

The aim of my research work was to find out, how often and why young people use English words in their speech.

During my work I have made a survey called “What youth magazines do you regularly read?” among pupils of my school.

Then I studied articles from these magazines.

magazine “Oops!”

- Magazine “Oops!” article «Ты идешь искать!»
There are 1159 words in text – 10 from them are English words, it is about 1 percent.

magazine “Yes!”

- Magazine “Yes!”, article «Техника на грани знакомства». There are 1469 words and 13 from them are English words, it is about 1 percent.

There you can see the quantity of English words in different magazines:

Also I have made a survey called «What TV programme do you watch regularly?»

Then I listen to these programmes.

In “Прожектор Перис Хилтон” programme during 150 seconds 3 English words were used. Every 35 seconds I can hear an English word.

In “Музыкальный суд” programme during 431 seconds 3 English words were used. Every 144 seconds I can hear an English word.

There you can see the quantity of English words in different TV programmes:

I studied 3 Internet chats

- « Молодёжный чат», « Лиска», « Поболтаем?;)». There were 326 words and 16 of these words are English words (4%)

I examined messages from mobile phones of my friends.

- There were 617 words in SMS and 15 of these words are English words (2%).

I have found out some reasons of why young people use English words in their speech:

- Historical reason. It is connected first of all with the post-war device of the world.
- The youth considered that some English words are more comfortable for pronunciation than their Russian meanings.
- Social reason. These words mean that they are among special layer of society. This layer - the youth of the XXI century.

In my opinion, in future English words will become more popular among the youth. English will develop and young people will use English words.

...and our task doesn't forget about native language.
