

Australia

Animals

The Kangaroo

Kangaroos live about 9-18 years, but some live to 30 years.

The largest kangaroos - Red Kangaroo. They can jump at a speed of 70km / h over short distances, but usually they travel 20 km / h.

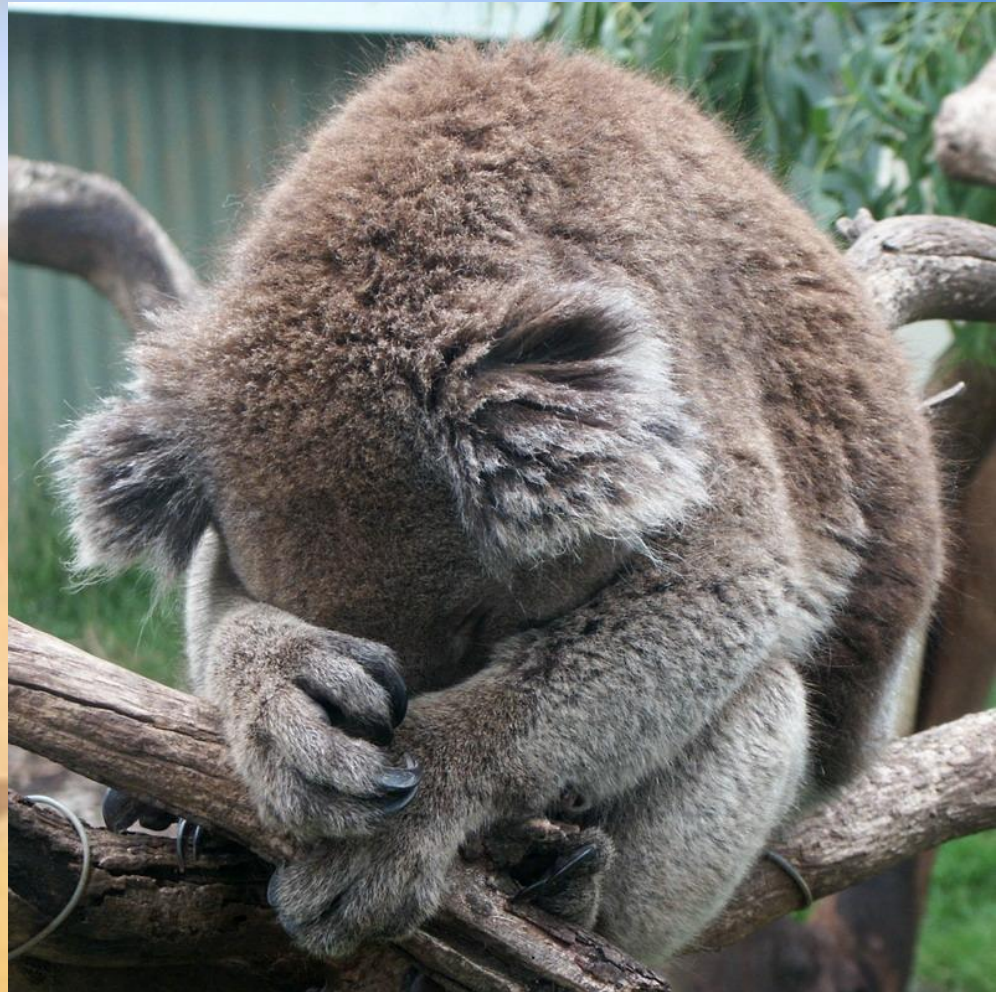

The Koalas

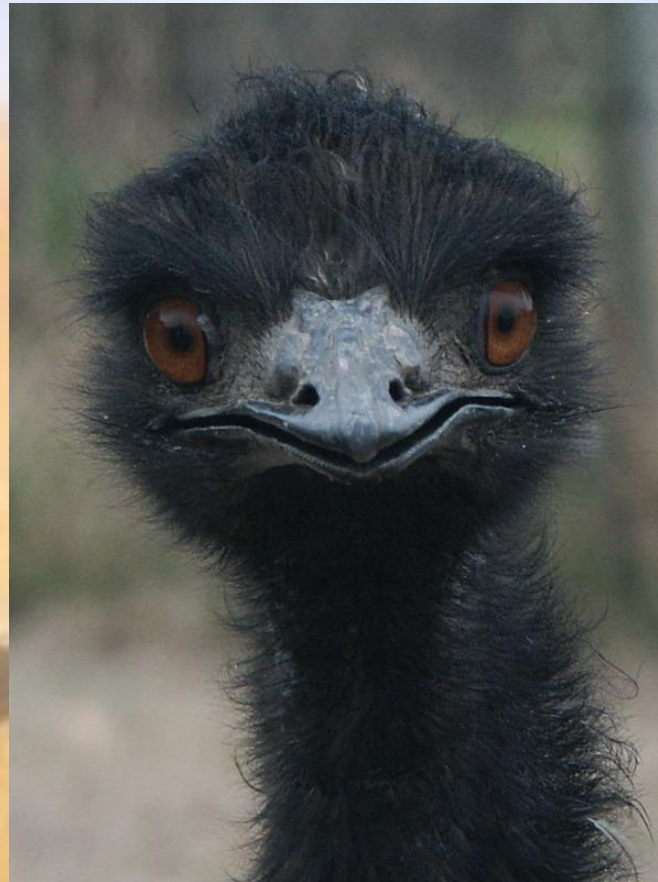

Koala is a lazy animal, it sleeps about 20 hours a day. Koala feeds on many species of eucalyptus leaves, which are unsuitable for other animals.

The word "Koala" came from the vocabulary of aborigines, it means "do not drink."

Ostrich Emu is a large flightless Australian bird. This is the second largest bird in the world, after the African ostrich, it reaches 1.5-2 meters in height and weighs 60 kilograms.

Emu is an excellent runner at short distances; they develop a speed of 50 km / h. But usually EMU walks at a speed of 4-7 km / h, covering 10-25 km per day.

Emus are also nice to swim and are able to swim across the river..

Other animals

Dingo is a wild Australian dog.

DANGER

Look out for dingoes

These wild animals roam Fraser Island and can be dangerous.

Always stay with your children.
Dingoes may attack, bite or scratch people.
Walk in groups.

NEVER feed dingoes
or encourage their attention.

Lock away all food, rubbish and iceboxes out of their reach.
Clean barbecues and utensils.

If threatened:
Stand up, stay calm
Fold your arms, keep eye contact
If in pairs, stand back to back
Don't run or wave your arms
Calmly back away
Call for help.

Anywhere on Fraser Island, whether on public or private land, it is an offence to feed a dingo, attract it using food or food waste, or disturb it in any way. Maximum penalty $3,000. On-the-spot fines apply.

Queensland Government
Environmental Protection Agency
Conservation Parks and Wildlife Service

A photograph of a dingo standing in a grassy field, used as a background for the sign. The dingo is shown in profile, facing left, with its mouth slightly open. The background is a dark, blurred image of a dingo in a natural setting.

The possums are small, the size of a cat, Australian animals.

The Tasmanian Devil is a unique animal that lives on the Australian island of Tasmania.

The Wombat

The Crocodiles - one of the inalienable character of the Australian romance.

The End...

Are working at the presentation:

- Piskareva Anna
- Korneva Maria

bye-bye!

Saint-Petersburg, 2010