While many Europeans believe that Americans have no taste at all - in fact it is not. Often in Hollywood movies we have seen ordinary Americans in traditional clothing: T-shirt, jeans, cap, regardless of age and gender. But in fact this is the hallmark of American fashion: the freedom and comfort in movement. Thus, they seem to demonstrate their independence of fashion trends and styles and show the individuality of their own country.

This, alluring, the country is the dream of many! There is much to blame America for an aggressive foreign policy or a bad fast food, but which does not deprive the American people, it's an overwhelming feeling of freedom, which manifests itself in the life style of Americans, in their music, stories and, of course, in the style of clothing.

As soon as we do not want to transform, to change the style or simply want something new, and, as usual, our radical change begins with the hair, and then with the rest (clothes, makeup, shoes). Someone goes without bangs as much as he can remember, but someone may like it can not grow. So what do you choose?
