In 1978 there was also an obscure project called Macintosh (now we know it as Mac), headed by computer scientist Jef Raskin. He started to assemble a small team to work on a computer “as easy to use as a toaster”. Why “Macintosh”?

- Jef Raskin liked to wear macintosh – the waterproof raincoat.
- This project was named after Raskin’s favorite apple.
- This computer was waterproof like the raincoat macintosh.

In 1983 John Sculley became Apple CEO. Where did he work before that?

- He was Intel CEO

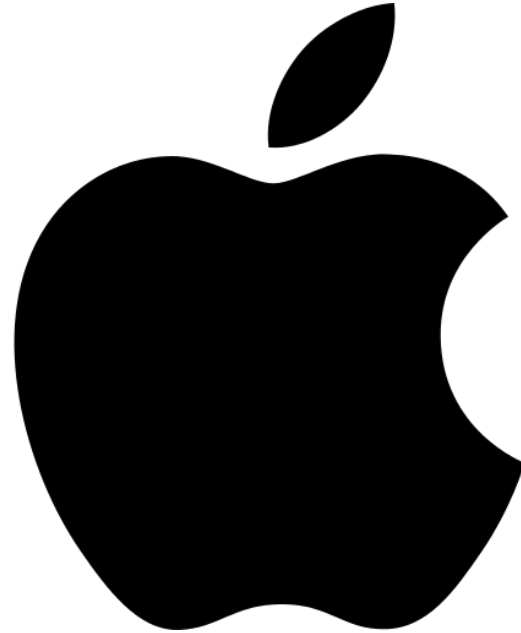

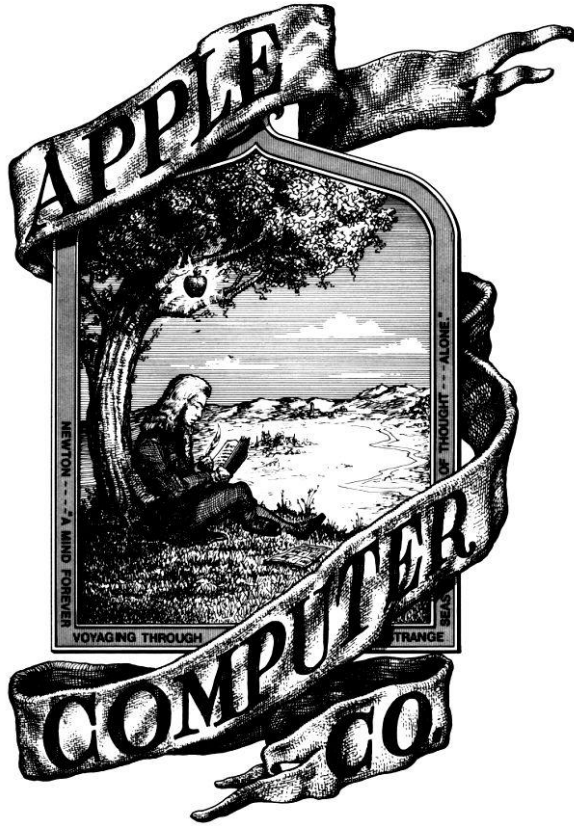

- He was HP Chief Engineer

PEPSICO

- He was the executive of PepsiCo

What was the first Apple logo?

Apple

- Sir Isaac Newton and the apple tree

- the apple

- only the word "Apple"

What is that?

- the monument of glass and steel frame
- Apple Store cube on Fifth Avenue in Manhattan, New York
- the construction serves to attract tourists

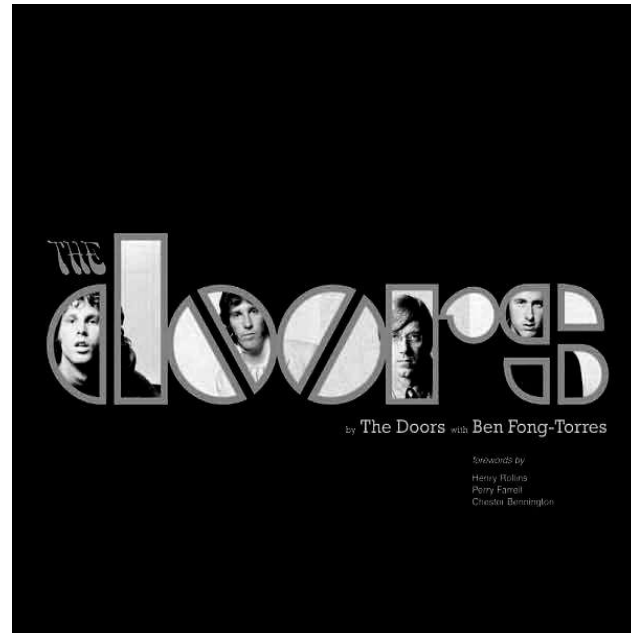

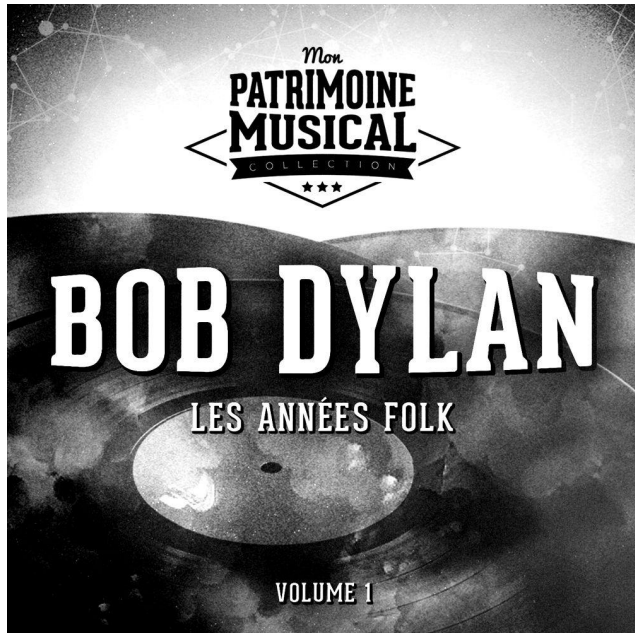

What was the first? (Steve had an idea of this device in the early 2000s)
