London is the capital of the UK.

Moscow is the capital of Russia.

Are they different?

Let's read the dialogue and answer the questions.

London or Moscow?

Helen: Where do we go? To Moscow or to London?

Alex: And what is there in Moscow?

Helen: Well, let's read some leaflets... There is Red Square, the Kremlin, the Tretyakov Gallery. There are a lot of galleries and museums in Moscow.

Alex: Is there a Zoo in Moscow?

Helen: Yes, there is a large Zoo in Moscow and there are a lot of parks there.

Alex: And what is there in London?

Helen: Oh, there are a lot of interesting places: Big Ben, The Houses of Parliament, The Thames, Buckingham Palace, Trafalgar Square and many others.

Alex: And what about the Zoo? Is there a zoo there?

Helen: Yes, there is.

Alex: Are there any theatres in London?

Helen: Yes, there are. And of course National Theatre.

Alex: Well, I don't know I want visit both of them.

Answer the questions:

- About what towns Helen and Alex are talking about?
- What Moscow's sightseeing can you name?
- What London's' sightseeing can you name?

Закончи предложение...

- I want to visit.....
