

Make sure you have a work sheet for use at short notice for you may need it earlier than you think. Occasionally a class gets through work much more quickly than you have planned for and, occasionally, an overexcited class may be in the wrong mood for extended oral work but may settle down to appropriate written work