

CHOCOLATE

The aim of my research is to find out how the choice of one of the types of chocolate is connected to the person's character.

The history of chocolate is long and goes back to thousands of years. It was first found in Mayan and Aztec Civilizations.

Mayan used cocoa beans to create a cold unsweetened, spicy beverage.

This was the first form of chocolate.

Aztecs came across cocoa beans through trade. They named the spicy drink xocolatl (bitter water)

Spanish were the first Europeans who tried chocolate.

It was in 1521 when Herman Cortes conquered Mexica.

Dark chocolate is made with a lot of cocoa mass, that's why it's so dark.

Milk chocolate is made of cocoa butter, cocoa mass, milk and sugar.

White chocolate is made of mostly cocoa butter and sugar

those who prefer dark chocolate are born leaders;
those who choose milk chocolate can support
you as nobody other;
born peacemakers choose white chocolate
