Rave is massive party with DJs and performance artists, where everyone can feel the powerful energy of music, the name of electronic dance music played at these parties. It went its name.

In the UK, raves have become a mass phenomenon in 1988 and the beginning of the 1990's became known outside the country.

The ravers are young people who love to hangouts and parties, original music and bright clothes. In the distant 90-ies culture of the ravers began to develop an alloy music techno and acid house. The ravers hang out at parties, trying to reach a particular emotional state in various ways.

Subculture of the ravers characterized by general synthetic, man-made. Nothing here is natural: if the music, then techno, if clothing, then from purely synthetic materials, toxic colors and painted with fluorescent paint. Such clothing sparkles and shines in the darkness, that becomes another factor contributing to the achievement of emotional ecstasy.

Asic colors, enjoying success it is orange, blue, poison green, yellow, pink. Many ravers are broad corduroy jeans and more exotic than the color, the better. Especially popular are sweaters and turtlenecks with some intricate pattern or inscription.

My opinion

In my opinion subculture the ravers not as bad as it seems. Ravers do what they want only at night and in a certain place, without harming the society. But its bright view they protest against society, they want to somehow stand out.
