

April Fool's Day

The history of April Fool's Day only goes back to the 16th century.

Legend says ... April Fool's Day started with a change in the calendar. The "new year" celebration was moved from April 1st to Jan 1st.

Some people did not hear about this change for many years. Other ignored the change, and continued to celebrate as they had always. These people were called "fools".

In the 1500's, some people began playing tricks on the "fools". Over time, April 1st became a day of playing tricks, and a challenge - a competition of sorts - to see who could come up with the best prank.

Today, almost 500 years later, April 1st is still a day when tricks are played on people in a spirit of fun. Anyone who plays a mean trick is just being mean. For the rest of us, April Fool's Day is a challenging game of trickery!

April Fools is celebrated in only some countries in the world.

In France, April 1st is called "Poisson d'Avril." French kids play a special game on this day.

The object of the game is to tape a paper fish on someone's back without that person noticing.

When the victim spots the fish taped to their back, the kids yell "Poisson d'Avril!" (April Fish!)

In Belgium, Egyptologist, Jacques Kinnaer, shared: "The expression "April Fish", in my region of the country (in Belgium), not only applies to the paper (or real) fish being stuck to someone's back, but to the tricks played on that day in general.

If I played a prank on you on April 1st, the expression would be (translated into English) that I've baked you an April's Fish. Even the media (press and radio) try to bake an April's Fish by adding something untrue to the news."

In the United States, April 1st is a day set aside to play small, clever tricks on people. Placing salt in the sugar bowl when no one is looking is not a real trick. Where's the cleverness in that? The ancient Greeks would have turned up their noses at such a pathetic attempt.)

A real April Fool's trick takes thought, creativity, timing, and a bit of acting.

There are rules to this game.

1. Your trick must be harmless.

2. Your victim must believe you.

3. Your trickery must make your victim at least smile (or better yet, laugh) when you shout "April Fool's!" Otherwise, it does not qualify as an April Fool's Day trick.

Happy April Fools!
Whistling carrots. Fancy something different for dinner. Have you ever tasted the genetically modified whistling carrot? Specially engineered to grow with air-holes in their side, the carrots begin to whistle when they are fully cooked. Would you believe this story if you heard it on the news?
