

Dalila

ТОВАРЫ.ru

Traditions of Russian, American and English cuisine

Key words and phrases

- I like/prefer
  - cuisine
  - cooking
- associate with
  - dishes
- a spoon, a fork, a knife,
  - polite

Russian cuisine

At the cafe

American cuisine

Drive Thru

McDonald's
RESTAURANT

Exercises

When invited to an American house

Quiz

1) When eating use your... .

- a) fingers      b) forks and knives      c) friends

2) Your napkin should be ... during a meal.

- a) on the plate      b) on your lap      c) on your neck

3) A fork should be ... .

- a) on the left of the plate
b) on the right of the plate
c) in front of the plate

4) You should keep your knife ... .

- a) in your left hand
- b) in your right hand
- c) under the table

5) It is always polite ... .

- a) To compliment the cook
- b) To be late
- c) to come early

6) You should not put your elbows ... .

- a) on your neighbours
- b) on the plates
- c) on the table

7) You shouldn't talk . . . .

a) with your neighbours

b) with your mouth full

c) about nice things

8) You should be . . . .

a) polite

b) aggressive

c) rude

It is easier to imagine Britain without a Queen than without tea.

Some facts about tea.

- 74 802 cups of tea are drunk by one British person in his or her whole life.
- The custom of afternoon tea was originated in the early 1800s.
- Tea breaks are a tradition which have been with us for approximately 200 years.

Thank you for your attention.

Let's have a cup of tea

What extra information would you like to know of traditional dishes in English-speaking countries?
(history, preferences)