As soon as spring brings a new growth of bushes and berries, bears start feeding. They eat and eat. All through the spring and summer their feeding goes on. The bears build themselves up. They store food and fats that they will need in the fall when they start their long sleep.

As days grow shorter, and the temperature begins to fall, bears hunt for a sleeping place. It may be a shallow cave, or a deep crack between rocks. Some bears end up sleeping in hollow logs. Logs seem to be bears' favourite places. Bears seem to choose small spaces. They can keep warmer in a cave that's just large enough to hold them than in a larger cave. They often line their sleeping place with leaves and dried grass.

All through their winter naps, bears will not eat. Often they will sleep for 7 months, moving only now and then.

Being the third most common native language in the world, after Mandarin Chinese and Spanish, English is the leading language of international discourse and the global lingua franca through American-dominated media and technology. Owing to the assimilation of words from all over the world, modern English contains a very large vocabulary and the Oxford English Dictionary lists over 250,000 distinct words, not including many technical, scientific, and slang terms. As the first language English is spoken by the populations of the United Kingdom, the USA, Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Alongside with these five main sovereigns there are many other countries, with a smaller population, that use English on a day-to-day basis as their first language. English is widely learned as the second language and the countries with the highest numbers of second language English speakers are India, Nigeria and the Philippines. English is an official language of almost 60 countries and many world organizations including the European Union and the United Nations.
