

Луг - природное сообщество

A detailed painting of a meadow. The foreground and middle ground are filled with numerous white daisies with bright yellow centers. Interspersed among the daisies are several red flowers, possibly poppies, which are partially obscured and less distinct. The background consists of tall, thin green grasses and foliage, rendered with soft, visible brushstrokes, creating a sense of depth and texture. The overall color palette is dominated by greens, whites, and yellows, with accents of red.
