A photograph of a large, traditional wooden drying rack (susek) used for drying grain and flour. The structure is made of dark wood and features a central platform with a scale. A large, woven basket hangs from the scale. On the floor of the rack, there are several stacks of round, flat items, likely flour or grain, and a small metal container. The background shows a wooden wall with a circular woven basket hanging on it. The entire image is framed by a colorful, decorative border with floral and scrollwork patterns.
