

English and American food and meals.

Do you want to taste?

Proverb:

- Appetite comes with eating!?

Meals in England.

- The usual meals in England are breakfast, lunch, tea, and dinner. Most Englishmen like what they call “good plain food”.
- How many meals a day do you have?
- What do you like to eat for breakfast, dinner, supper?

A funny story

- Have you much variety at your canteen?
- Yes, we have three different names for one and the same dish.

English meals.

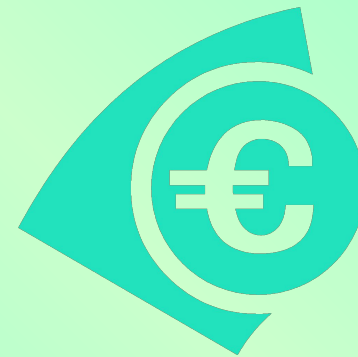

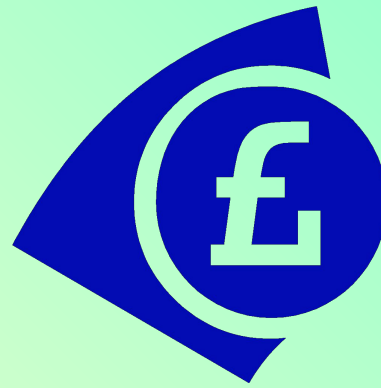

- The usual English breakfast is rather substantial. English people eat toasts, bacon, eggs, cornflakes in the morning.
- They usually eat fish and chips, meat with potatoes, hamburgers for lunch.
- They have their dinner in the evening.
- The most important time for Englishmen is tea time (at 5 o'clock). They like to drink cream tea with scones and jam.

People spend less time cooking now. They prefer to visit restaurants or eat fast food.

Fast Food.

- The traditional, British fast food meal is fish and chips but the most popular fast food meal in Britain is a hamburger and French fries. The most successful fast food restaurant in Britain is the American chain, McDonald's.
