

Презентация
на тему:
«Шотландская независимость: миф
или реальность»

Выполнила:
Жаркова Наталия Владимировна
студентка 3-го курса специальность
« Экономика и бухгалтерский учет»
(по отраслям)
ГАПОУ Саратовской области
"Сельскохозяйственный техникум
им.К.А.Тимирязева»
Руководитель: Шленна И.И.

Scottish independence: myth or reality?

- General information;
- Wars of Scottish Independence;
- the Scots National League 1921;
- Scotland Act 1978;
- Scottish devolution referendum, 1997;
- Scottish independence referendum, 2014.

Atlantic Ocean

Scotland is a country that is part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland

Ireland
Northern Ireland
Belfast

England

North Sea

Scotland

- Capital - Edinburgh
- Area - Total 78,387 km²
- Population - 5,313,600

Motto: "In My Defens God Me Defend" (Scots) "In my defence God me defend" (Eng)

- The Kingdom of Scotland emerged as an independent sovereign state in the Early Middle Ages and continued to exist until 1707.

Wars of Scottish Independence

- The First War (1296–1328) began with the English invasion of Scotland in 1296, and ended with the signing of the Treaty of Edinburgh-Northampton in 1328.

Wars of Scottish Independence

- The Second War (1332–1357) began with the English-supported invasion by Edward Balliol and the "Disinherited" in 1332, and ended in 1357 with the signing of the Treaty of Berwick.

The twentieth century

- In 1921, influenced by Sinn Féin, the Scots National League was formed as a body, primarily based in London, seeking Scottish independence.

Scotland Act 1978

- The Scotland Act 1978 was an Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom intended to establish a Scottish Assembly as a devolved legislature for Scotland. At a referendum held in the following year, the Act failed to gain the necessary level, and was never put into effect.

Scottish devolution referendum, 1997

- The Scottish devolution referendum of 1997 was a pre-legislative held in Scotland on 11 September 1997 over whether there was support for the creation of a Scottish Parliament with devolved powers, and whether the Parliament should have tax-varying powers.

“Independence will create the opportunity to build an economy that takes advantage of Scotland’s unique strengths and size.”

—John Swinney

«Scotland is a wealthy nation. Whether through the talents of our people or the natural resources of our country there is no doubt that Scotland has the potential to be a successful independent nation.»

John Swinney MSP

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'John Swinney', with a long horizontal line underneath.

Scottish independence referendum, 2014

- A referendum on whether Scotland should be an independent country will take place on Thursday 18 September 2014.

Eligible to vote ✓

People born in other parts of the UK who are now resident in Scotland

England 366,755

Northern Ireland 32,049

Wales 15,120

Not eligible to vote X

People born in Scotland who now live elsewhere in the UK

England 753,286

Wales 22,533

Northern Ireland 14,965

Source: General Register Office for Scotland, 2001 Census (latest available figures)
All ages 16+

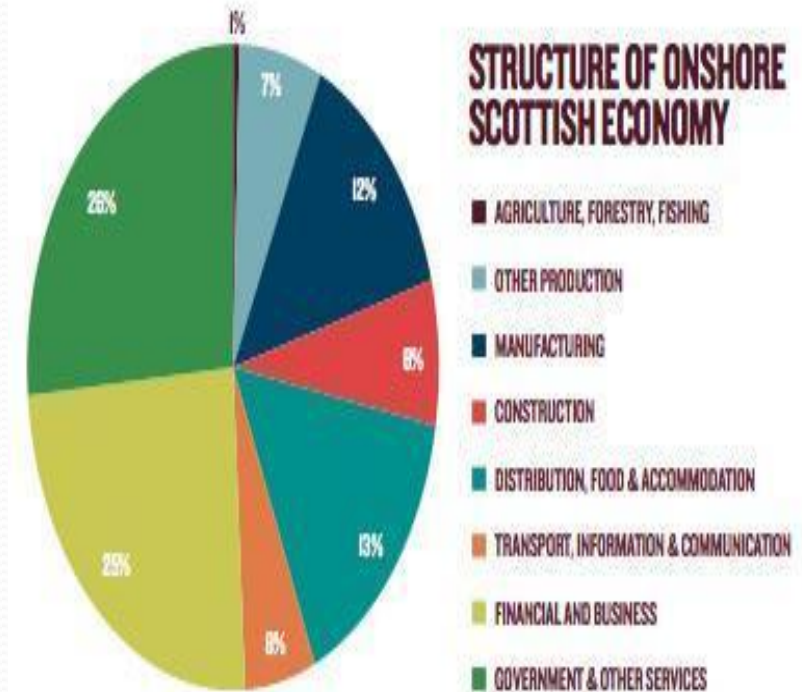

Scottish independence For or Against?

The argument for 9 key economic facts that prove Scotland will be a wealthy independent nation.

- Scotland has a rich and diverse economy;
- Scotland is a net contributor to the UK;
- Scotland generates far more tax than the UK average;
- Westminster has cost Scotland £64 billion in the past 30 years.

- Scotland has strong exports;
- Scotland's oil fields remain a massive financial asset;
- Scotland has huge potential in renewable energy;
- Scotland is one of the top UK locations for inward investment;
- An independent Scotland can support Scottish business in tax, regulation, the labour market, innovation and global exports.

“We will drain our dearest veins, but they shall be free”

Professor John Curtice stated in January 2012 that polling showed support for independence at between 32% and 38% of the Scottish population.

The argument against

- Much of the desire for Scottish independence is based on a romanticized idea of Scottish history and legend.
- Now and in the future Scotland is stronger as part of the United Kingdom and the United Kingdom is stronger with Scotland as a partner. Working together, better together.

5 Reasons Why Scottish Independence Would Be An Economic Disaster.

David Nicholson.

- Currency confusion.
- Delusions of oil grandeur.
- Financial mismanagement.
- Loss of credibility.
- Lack of natural resources.

Should Scotland be an independent country?

Используемая литература:

- Восковская А.С., Карпова Т.А. Английский язык для средних специальных учебных заведений. – Ростов н/Д: изд-во «Феникс», 2003.
- Агабекян И.П. Английский для средних специальных заведений. Серия «Среднее профессиональное образование» Ростов н/Д: «Феникс», 2004.
- <http://www.gloscol.ac.uk/>
- <http://www.forbes.com/>
- <http://www.scotland.gov.uk/>
- <http://en.wikipedia.org/>