

The image features a top-down view of a wooden desk with various watercolor supplies. In the top left, a white watercolor palette contains several colors including green, purple, orange, and yellow. In the top right, another palette shows a range of colors from green to red. A small piece of paper with a watercolor wash of pink, orange, and yellow is placed between the two palettes. On the left side, three brushes are laid out: two standard brushes and one fan brush. On the right side, three more brushes are laid out, including a fine-tipped brush and a larger brush. In the center, a white sheet of paper is placed on the desk, serving as a background for the text.
