The historic castle Howard is the magnificent ancestral home of one of the oldest aristocratic families in England the Howards.

It was built in 1699—1712 by John Vanbrey

It is considered to be the most beautiful palace in Great Britain

*The construction began Charles Howard , the 3rd
Earl of Carlisle.
90 years later his grandson finished it.*

The garden facade is decorated with pilasters, the parapet on the top are placed the statues and decorative vases.

Triangular pediment is decorated with the arms of the counts of Carlisle.

The building is crowned by a magnificent dome, with a height of 70 feet. From the hall a dome is supported by four columns representing the four basic elements of the world: Earth, Fire, Air and Water.

The fresco on the ceiling depicts the Phaeton, son of Apollo, who falls to the ground from the chariot of his father.

In the Great hall opposite each other located fireplace and the niche of Bacchus

Bacchus

The Grand staircase, decorated with collection of old sculptures and portraits.

The current Anglican chapel

One of the most memorable places in the house is a long corridor filled with antique statues and busts.

The Statue Of Fortune

Located on this corridor the gallery, 160 feet in length, filled with oak bookcases, musical instruments and paintings of great artists

Turquoise living room

Red dining room

A natural extension of the castle is the surrounding landscape.

Fountain Of Atlas

Near the Southern parterre is the Walled garden, surrounded by a decorative castle wall..

In the garden there is a wonderful decorative stone gate
