Urgency of this question

- The period of a youth represents very important and responsible stage of development and formation of individual. An early youth is the period when basically physical development and puberty of an organism comes to the end. Young men and girls quickly mature and it is time for the first love. It frightens parents very much. They are afraid such formation, that children keep away from them. In some cases between parents and children there are serious conflicts in this occasion, but sometimes their relationship do not change.
- It is necessary to understand, that relationship between parents and children during the first youthful love depends on both sides.

The purpose and problems

In my opinion

Parents refer to this period easy enough, trusting children, objectively estimate a situation concerning of study and choosing a future profession. They do not press on their children, do not interfere into their relationships, but only give some delicate advice.

In my opinion

Relationships between children and parents do not change, thus, neither those, nor others do not have a stress.

In my opinion

Parents refer to a question of sex very responsibly, ready to support children and give efficient advice.

In my opinion

Children seldom talk heart-to-heart with their parents, talk about their experiences. For this purpose they have friends.

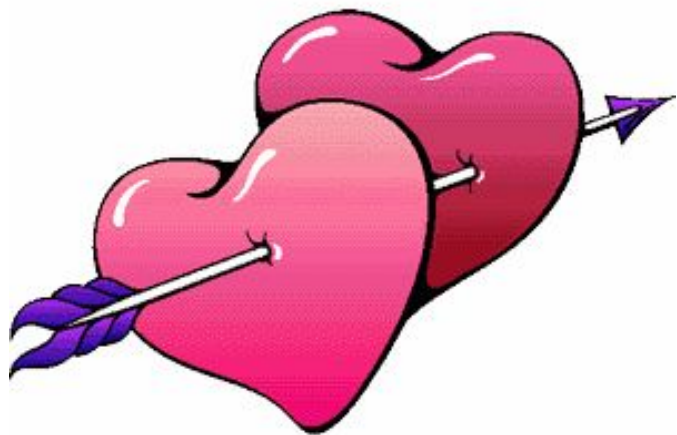

CONCLUSION

Parents quite tolerantly refer to a choice of their child. They understand, that relationship of their child with his/her partner can be serious and long, therefore they wish to get acquainted with the partner and to spend with him/her some time. Young men and girls, in turn, do not consider that it is necessary to intervene in their relationship their parents, but nevertheless they are sure in gravity of their intentions.
