

We'll always love you...

The Birth

- Whitney Elizabeth Houston was born on the 9th of August in 1963 in Newark, New Jersey in a gifted family, which inspired and encouraged the development of her natural singing talent.

Close relatives helped and supported
Whitney in her aspirations.

Mother

- Whitney's mother is Emily Drinkard. She was born on the 30th of September in 1933. In girlhood she started singing in a family gospel group, "Drinkard Sisters". Later, Emily performed with the first group of her famous niece Dionne Warwick "Gospelaire". And then she entered the quartet "Sweet Inspirations".

Father

□ John Houston was a manager of his wife, when Emily was in the show business. When Whitney was born , John remained in the household, to look after her.

“He was

Mom's support network while she was out on tour.” said Whitney, in tribute to her father. “He changed diapers, cooked, did my hair and dressed me, all the while providing Mom with advice and answers.”

Brothers

- Whitney's two elder brothers, Michael and Gary, helped her career on the part of the business and music. Michael became her manager on tours, arranging everything from the lighting hire to the catering crew, while Gary joined her as a singer, performing duets and backing vocals with his sister on stage vocalist. Whitney has always been close with her family, they could rely on each other when needed support.

The first experience

- The first time Whitney's solo voice was heard in public was, naturally, at the New Hope Baptist Church. At the age of about 11 she sang "Guide Me", and the reaction she received taught her something she would never forget. "I was aware of people staring at me. No one moved. They seemed almost in trance. I just stared at the clock in the center of the church. When I finished, everyone clapped and started crying."

Parent's divorce

- When Whitney was 15 years old, her parents divorced. It was a shock for her though her father and mother have always lived in peace and harmony.

Model career

Throwing herself into her extra-curricular work, Whitney found a very promising career in modelling. She appeared in US magazines Cosmopolitan and Young Miss and on the covers of Glamour and Seventeen in 1981. Modeling career led to offers of roles in TV comedy of American family "Silver spoon" and "Gimme A Break", but at the same time, Whitney was in great demand as a singer.

Contract

□ When the president of Arista Records, Clive Davis saw Whitney Houston on stage at first, he noticed the talent of the future star in her eyes, and signed a contract with her almost immediately in 1983. It was the beginning of her singing career.
