остров

A bathymetric map of the Pacific Ocean region, showing the island of New Guinea and the surrounding tectonic plates. The word "остров" (island) is written in white text over the island of New Guinea. The map uses a color scale where darker blues represent deeper ocean depths and lighter blues/greens represent shallower depths and continental shelves. The island of New Guinea is shown in green, indicating its elevation above sea level. The surrounding ocean floor is mostly dark blue, with various tectonic features like trenches and ridges visible.
