The Trussell Trust

- In total, there are 424 representative offices of the foundation in the UK, where anyone who has nothing to eat can get three meals a day. Companies such as Tesco and Waitrose are working with the foundation to help collect food. In addition to donating products to the fund, they need the help of volunteers, so any contribution is essential.
- The fund constantly needs help in warehouses, in points for receiving, sorting and distributing food. In addition, the foundation is experiencing a shortage of drivers in minibuses involved in transporting food and clothing in their charity stores.

RNLI - Royal National Lifeboat Organization

- The main purpose of the organization is to save life at sea. In any weather, these brave volunteers go to sea at the first call of distress to help them. One of the main principles of the organization is to remain as voluntary as possible, therefore they always need new volunteers. If you want to join them, and you are not afraid of any waves or wind - contact your local office RNLI.
