

ВЕСНА
ПРИШЛА-
ВЕСНЕ ДОРОГУ!!!

A European Starling (Sturnus vulgaris) is perched on a bare, light-colored branch. The bird is shown in profile, facing left. Its plumage is dark, with a dense pattern of white and light-colored spots, particularly on the head and neck. The wings and tail show more complex patterns of brown, black, and white. The bird's beak is a bright yellow, and its legs are a reddish-brown color. The background is a soft, out-of-focus grey, suggesting a winter or late autumn setting.

Скворец

2001

ГЛУБОКАЯ
ВЕСНА

