The image features a vibrant spring-themed background. The color palette is dominated by soft yellows and various shades of green, from pale lime to deep forest green. The background is filled with delicate, ethereal white lines that swirl and flow across the frame, creating a sense of movement and light. Scattered throughout are numerous small, bright white sparkles and starburst effects, adding a magical and celebratory feel. In the upper right corner, the Russian phrase "Весна пришла..." (Spring has come...) is written in a flowing, elegant cursive script. The text is dark green and is artistically integrated with a small cluster of green leaves and tiny blue flowers. Along the left and bottom edges, there are more prominent floral decorations, including clusters of heart-shaped green leaves and small, five-petaled blue flowers with yellow centers. These elements are connected by thin, dark green, swirling lines that frame the central white space, which is intended for text or images.
