

A photograph of the Monument 'Volga' in Volgograd, Russia. The statue, a bronze figure of a woman in a long dress pointing towards the river, stands on a large, light-colored stone pedestal. The monument is situated on a small, rocky island in the middle of the Volga River. In the background, a large white and red passenger ship is docked at a pier, and a cityscape with buildings and trees is visible across the water. The sky is overcast with grey clouds.
