A vintage-style illustration of two angels in a winter night setting. The angels, with blonde hair and white robes, are walking from left to right. The angel in the foreground carries a large green holly branch, while the one behind her holds a golden bell. They are positioned in front of a house with a glowing window. The background features a snowy landscape, bare trees, and a starry night sky with a bright star. A wooden fence is visible in the lower right corner.
