

пекарня

A vibrant, close-up photograph of a wide variety of baked goods. In the foreground, there are several round rolls and buns, some with a golden-brown crust and others with a darker, more rustic appearance. A small woven basket on the left is filled with small, round pastries. In the center, there are several long, thin loaves of bread, some with a soft, white interior and others with a darker, more textured exterior. On the right, there are more round rolls, some with a dark, almost black crust. The background is filled with more breads, including some that look like traditional European loaves. The overall lighting is warm and golden, creating a rich, inviting atmosphere. The word "пекарня" is written in large, bold, yellow Cyrillic letters across the top of the image.
