

SFEDU Institute of Sociology and Region Study

Family Violence as an Acute Problem in Contemporary Society

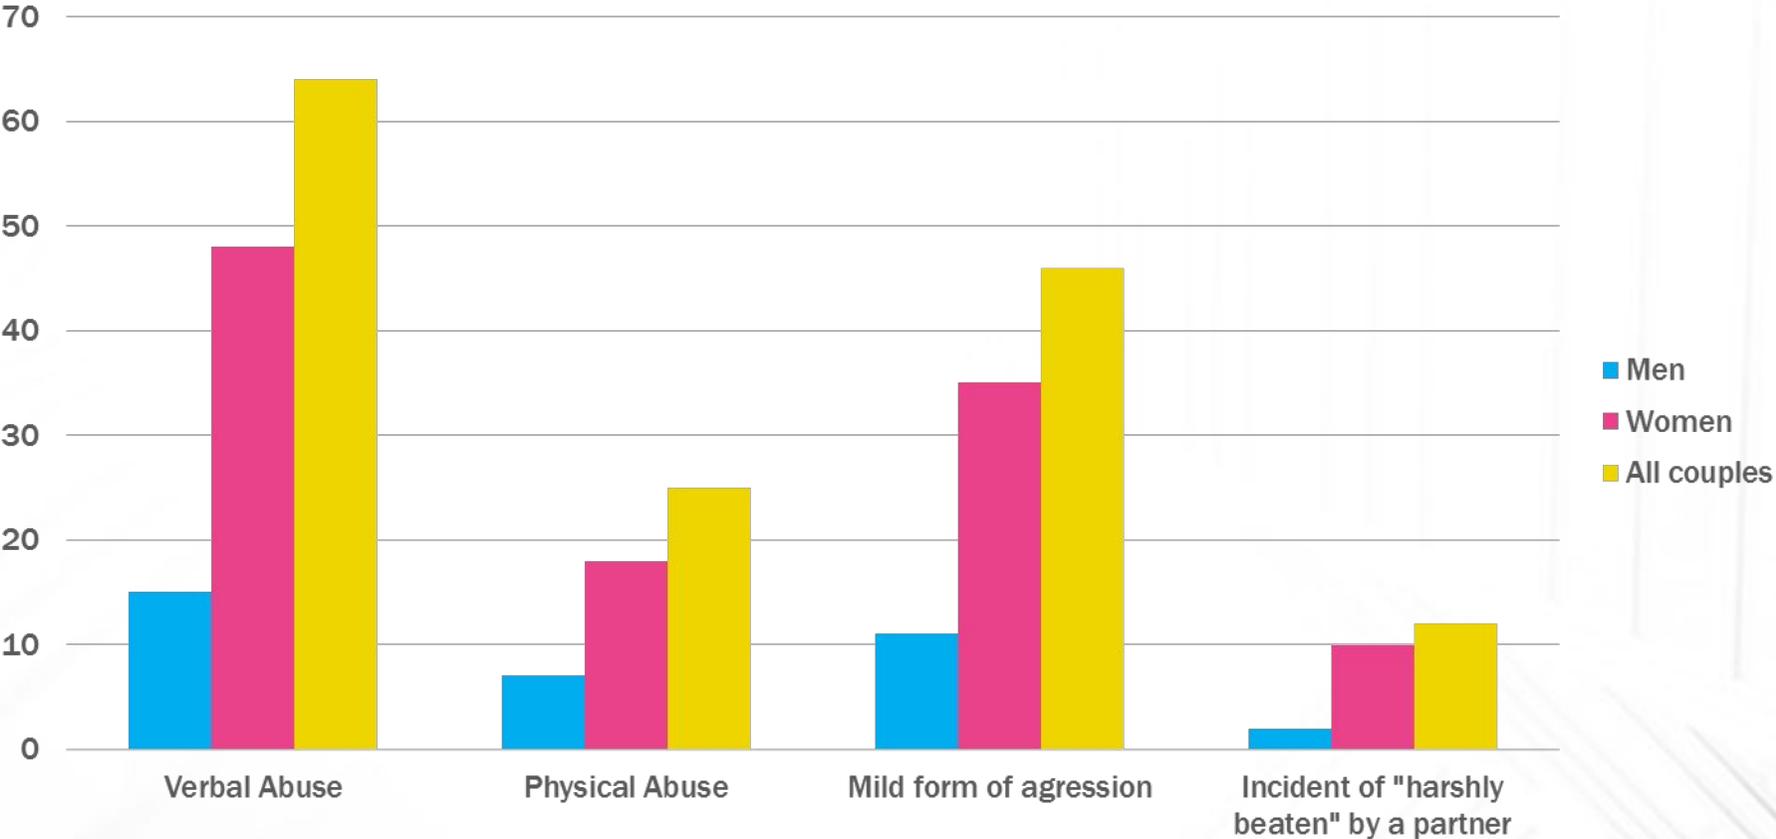

BY: the 2nd year student of the Conflict Science Department
Govorukha Anastasia

Domestic violence – what is it?

- Domestic violence is a pattern of behavior which involves violence or other abuse by one person in a domestic setting against another, such as in marriage or cohabitation.

Data (in %)

Causes of domestic violence

- Rigid gender roles
- The “paradox of masculinity”
- Mental illnesses
- Perpetrators were themselves abused as children
- Drug and alcohol abuse

Types of abuse

Physical abuse

- Using physical force to control an intimate partner by pushing, biting, punching, throwing objects at the partner, or assaulting them with a weapon.

Sexual abuse

- Using words, actions, or threats to force another to engage in sexual activities against their will.

Psychological abuse

- Using words or actions to isolate, humiliate, demean, intimidate, or control an intimate partner.

What does a victim feel?

Threat of “outing”

Extreme isolation

Lack of access to the legal system

Lack of civil rights protections

Nobody to turn for help

The perpetrator's threat to take the children away

Consequences of domestic violence

- Higher rates of many chronic conditions
- High risk health behaviors and shortened life span
- Posttraumatic stress disorder
- Interfere child's life
- Suicide

Social advertising against domestic violence

PSA

"Tea Party" (:30)

Generic End

7.14.2006

NOV

the now corporation

Be careful.
Stop domestic violence.
Protect yourself and your family.

Thank you for your attention!

