Handwriting practice on three horizontal blue lines. The first line is the top line, the second is the middle line, and the third is the bottom line. The word "HO" is written in a large, cursive, blue font. The letter 'H' is formed by a single stroke that starts at the top line, goes down to the bottom line, loops back up to the middle line, and then down to the bottom line again. The letter 'O' is formed by a single stroke that starts at the middle line, goes down to the bottom line, loops back up to the middle line, and then down to the bottom line again. Three orange dots are placed on the blue lines to indicate starting points: one on the top line at the start of the 'H', one on the middle line at the start of the 'O', and one on the bottom line at the end of the 'O'.
