Спасибо!

It is said that charity begins at home, but people in Russia seem to have put these words into practice very rarely. There are only 40 charity organisations that work in the country. Some of the most famous ones are Give a Life, The Naked Hearts and CAF Russia.

People donate money to charity organisations or volunteer to help them raise money. Many of the Russian organisations run charity shops. The first shop in Russia is "Thanks". It has been working since May 2010. Today they have raised 2 million rub for charity.

In our country charity is not as popular as in the UK, but some people try to help those who really need it.
