Sasha Dobysh- Pilot

Pilot flight schools in Canada are being bombarded with requests to train overseas commercial pilots for the many jobs that are opening up in international aviation.

Now is the time to start your pilot flight training and get yourself into an entry level commercial pilot job. You will need to work for several years at entry level and intermediate jobs to prepare yourself to apply for an airline job. If you start now, you can be part of the massive airline hiring surge that is just beginning.

Don't miss the boat!
